

EECO

Environmental Education Council of Ohio

Kids Conference

Saturday, April 2, 2022

Hueston Woods State Park Lodge, Oxford, Ohio

9:30 am – 10:30 am Soil Sleuths Soils come in all sorts of cool colors, but what do the colors mean? Be a pedologist (scientist who studies soil) and dig into dirt to see what keeps it... grounded. Ha!! Sorry.

10:45 am - 11:45 am Wildlife Invasion at the Lodge Join the naturalist from Hueston Woods, to see and learn about some of the feathered, furred, or scaled animals that can be found in Ohio.

2:15 pm - 3:15 pm Mud Lick Trail at Hueston Woods Let's hike, kids! Meet at the conference registration table to explore nature on the trails. Along the way, we will collect nature items for the next session using MICROSCOPES.

3:30 pm – 4:30 pm Upclose with Nature: Microscopes Some of the neatest, coolest things occur in nature—and we don't even see them!

Only $15 per child for a whole day of fun!

Lunch is not included. Children's meal tickets can be purchased at the registration table, or you can purchase lunch in the lodge restaurant.
